

Annex II: Summation of the UREE Roadmap

Fifteen (15) basic UREE models have numerous practicable applications creating perpetual green free electricity according to need like a Hoover-dam is generating large energy for factories now could produce it much cheaper using the UREE underwater ocean version inside a submarine (page 5). But what is unique can also be miniaturized scaled down and made portable to a tiny pedal bicycle needed by poor people with easy transportable electricity generated from compressed air. That requires focusing on a specific design concept depending on use. Our civilization uses electricity on two energy modes either moving or being stationary.

1. Cars and Trains

2. Home and Office

For the various UREE possibilities extracting free clean energy from GRAVITY, WATER & AIR, the author recommends investigating first the model that is more suitable. Perhaps each should require a separate examination lead by a specialized engineering team. At the end they will discover what meets the cost criteria, use and benefit ratios. All will end like the Wright Brothers in better models changing our civilization. This process is about understanding the fundamentals of "perpetual motion" now applied to generating free electricity, which has come at the right time for a growing population.

1. Cars and Trains

Let's start for an example analyzing the green energy process by driving a car without gasoline needs to be investigated to choose which UREE design is best suitable and perhaps will be staged if found out more energy is needed depending on size. Each UREE stage must be scaled according to application all have the advantage giving more. We can start at the bottom with the minimal requirement and see how it works:

A. The main power drive is a cylinder driven motor fuelled with a high-pressured Air tank. For perpetual motion to return the high pressure back into the tank, a spring is mounted on the low pressure side secured to the piston. When the piston is bottomed out and compressed, the spring has gained a little extra energy to help the pressurized air back at the right time on the return cycle. This is only possible with a flywheel. Perhaps that simple application is enough for the main power driving a motorized pedal bicycle or perhaps a little more is needed for a small rubberized commuter car. However on the other power spectrum we would need much big power now scaled up to an Underwater Ocean UREE application design (Page 53-62) sized to a thousand time bigger pressure a Hoover-dam would provide. This can be achieved further by using advanced electric generators (Pearl # 203) fuelled by solar panels and can even be applied to a Hoffman hydrogen-oxygen conversion creating large green free electricity another UREE possibility if you live near an ocean.

- B. If the spring is not enough for a bigger UREE piston design to achieve perpetual motion, we apply the next step using a spark plug to heat the air: That will expand the pressurized air inside the cylinder to a higher force to compel the piston to return. We must aim at perpetual motion as the secondary extraction of free energy could be converted into electricity. In the lower power requirement like a pedal bicycle, the spring-flywheel inertia would be sufficient.
- C. If the biggest UREE motor still requires more piston energy for perpetual motion, we need a larger return force inside the cylinder by applying strong high-tech magnets could be made from Neodymium-Iron-Boron linked to two copper coils mounted on the bottom and top of the cylinder. That will activate a stronger force when the piston-head is made from super-magnets. When the polarity of the coil is switched as synchronized with flywheel crank, it repels the piston-head on one side, and on the other side we have a sucking force that together will push the compressed air back into the air tank, which has not changed, like the weight of the cuckoo clock.

Those three applications should exhaust the basic UREE function utilizing one or all methods to create perpetual motion that converts a gravity force imitated in an air tank to make it portable as linked to generating electricity. Check the list of added Pearls once more.

When the UREE concept is expanded further, it can improve an existing hybrid car driving without gasoline by adding extra electricity from a UREE kit combination (Pearl #204). This enables driving around with perpetual energy. One or the other UREE versions can be chosen as the prime energy provider but not necessarily the same size, as one can be made smaller only an assist to increase extra energy needed for perpetual motion.

2. Home and Office

Generating electricity as a major fuel in our expanding population is more needed than ever, as fossil fuels will end shortly. However, nuclear power created by criminals should be shut down, if you want to live a little longer. Radiation leaking into the underground drinking water caused by rusting Iron cracking the cement will surely exterminate all life on this earth in the next generation because everyone knows that permanent storage bins for deadly nuclear rods just "do not exist!"

Some times watching UN nuclear experts on TV leaking information revealing how poorly emergency equipment is maintained in nuclear power stations with corroding pipes, failing pumps and worse the computer technology changed from old documented original design layouts no longer available because Disk-Tape drive have no more spare parts available, obsolete after 40 years. It is a recipe for a waiting disaster already seen in Russia, Japan and near the White House nuclear facility shaken with an earthquake always blaming nature. Not surprised revealing the total failure of emergency equipment. The UN expert said to the president Obama on TV we were lucky the earth quake was one notch smaller.

Many others have the same condition around the globe, we will never hear about it in the news. Ask the surrounding people who survived. Do not listen to a lying government covering up the truth to protect the energy cartels. Another deadly nuclear power station was licensed (1/2012) without the approval of the American people guaranteeing the early death of our grandchildren's generation, terminating all life on this planet. Watch ELOHIM. He is not sleeping.

Scientist writing magazine articles tells us to watch that deadly nuclear radiation poison for 100,000 years. (Hope you live that long if you are an expert.) They warn us never let it out like Aladdin with the genie in the bottle. Please tell that to the Japanese and Russian farmers who lost all their land. Many surviving friends and relatives are dying from cancer. Empty ghost towns give evidence to the lies once heard from their government. They know that the Aladdin nuclear radiation genie will never go back in the bottle once released.

However, we do have a better choice as plentiful green electricity is available much cheaper and not deadly to mankind. Many options exist, like how energy can be extracted even from water. Water is plentifully available, take a trip to the ocean linked to a method invented and grossly ignored Hoffman, a German scientist. Why does the energy cartel not use the cheap $97 Dollar solar panels to split the hydrogen-oxygen water molecules, which when later recombined will release big time energy? Electricity is very functional, especially if made portable by a newly discovered UREE. If allowed would be another method to splitting water which opens again unlimited possibility gaining cheap green energy.

The headliner of energy discourse explains only two applications: a car driving perpetually and one for home and office with infinite energy available extracted from variously designed UREE versions combined for double portable use. If miniaturized will open a new way of life and get electricity to the last corner on earth without ugly wires hanging everywhere. Why not ask skilled NASA scientists now looking for other jobs as space projects are shut down. They could focus on something that is useful for mankind getting perpetual electricity to benefit globally every nation. Recently was surprised to find on the Internet that a double magnet generator got the gold metal generating 50 % more electricity. It is in line of the UREE printed board application discovery one notch higher. With super-magnets now available, I postulate higher electrical output possibilities. There are several UREE options depending where the main energy source comes from. Again, look at it from the automobile perspective, which is also applicable for the home-office use because it is portable a great advantage.

- D. The automobile has an old-fashioned generator could be converted to higher output of electricity linked to printed board generators using super-magnets in conjunction to paragraph A. Check the expanded possibility Pearl #203 and do not forget (page 68-71) in the 9th Babushka egg concept book.
- E. If more energy is needed apply paragraph B. or C, with added solar panels linked to printed board generators (Pearl #202, #203), much cheaper.
- F. Now for the connoisseur the ultimate UREE possibility amplifying electricity with a double transformer Generator-Streetcar-Motor combination which ends our investigation unless Pearl # 206 and #207 which again is one notch higher. A little off beat was fun explaining how a UFO is fueled and how mankind can travel with the last #17-UREE into space the outer universe right into heaven at extremely high speed - no kidding. But sorry those two pearls generate too much energy not practicable if you live on earth. If the government allows the many remaining 15 UREE combination options will be plenty busy designing applications celebrating the greatest free electricity invention since the Wright brother's time. Check the energy path to become educated in the metaphysics controlling physics designed around a math symbol " ∞ ".

Extracting free clean green electrical energy from GRAVITY, WATER & AIR if allowed will make dirty coal fired plants obsolete and replaces nuclear poison power plants and will shut down the oil polluting gasoline for cars. These concepts are now logical proven if we have the will to force the government to allow it. But somebody I am sure will be motivated to test the UREE models and make obscene profit while the establishment remains silent.

Ruining somebody's energy business will suppress Babushka egg concept books not allowed in universities quoting forbidden bible verses revealing true physics linked to the metaphysics. I hope it will not take a hundred years, like Galileo, to prove that the UREE energy trail was right. Watch once more you will see that ELOHIM the energy provider does exist.
